

A Market Place

The originally narrow market place received its present appearance mostly in the period after the Second World War. Several buildings have been preserved from the 16th century, including the Vogthaus (today: German Butchers Museum) and the neighbouring town clerk's office.

B Tithe Barn

The building by the former city wall was built in the 16th century and was used for the transfer and storage of the levies. At the beginning of the 19th century, it was home to the laboratory of the pharmacist Bonz, whose company later developed the pure narcosether.

C Green Tower

The tower at the foot of the Town Church is one of the surviving remains of the 16th century city fortifications. It was built in the 14th century and received its name due to the color of its roof tiles - which you can still see today! In the 19th century it served as a prison.

D Town Church

The St. Dionysius Protestant Church has become the symbol of the city and dates back to the 13th/14th century. During the bombing in 1943, the church was largely destroyed and rebuilt in 1949/50. The 16th century choir and the organ are definitely worth seeing.

E Post Square

A post office and a hotel were built here in the 19th century. The post square developed as an important hub of travel and goods and connected important roads in the region. Since 1829, the beer brewery Dinkel(a)cker (today: Schönbusch Braumanufaktur) is located here.

F Flugfeld

From 1925 to 1938, the Flugfeld (airfield) site was home to the first state airport in Württemberg. The entrance buildings and some aircraft halls have been preserved and are now integrated into the MOTORWORLD. Since 2006, a new city quarter has been built here.
